Three of 12 members vote Council decides on department money

With three of 12 voting members present, the ASBYU Executive Council over the weekend proportioned $3,000 to the Music Dept. and $1,000 to the Drama Dept., apportioning the two department chairmen with the rationale that the money was allotted on the same percentage as last summer.

ASBYU President Steve Killpack earlier in the meeting had delayed voting to debate what constitutes a quorum. Mike Whitaker, adviser to the Council, said that the Council had never specified what constituted a quorum. Killpack then proposed that the three members present comprise a quorum to allow voting to proceed. The proposal passed and the voting went on record.

Killpack further told the Council that the Union Board, the governing student council at the University of Utah, is comprised of 46 members yet has little problem getting together regularly. Vice President of Academics Phil Kelly added that an absence of a Council member indicated "a lack of integrity." And then Whitaker reminded the Council that the $75 stipend toward tuition was given with the understanding that Council members would attend all meetings.

Killpack promised the departments more money "provided that we have it left over at the end of the summer." He also expressed a desire that such

Genealogists attend in mass seventh meet

An army of 1,600 genealogists are sifting across campus this week in the largest Priesthood Genealogical Research Seminar hosted by the Church.

The seminar is "the only major annual genealogical activity sponsored by the Priesthood Genealogy Committee," according to Theodore M. Burton, assistant to the Council of the Twelve.

Alton E. Sigmund, of the Division of Continuing Education at BYU which is co-hosting the seventh annual seminar, reported that this year's turnout far outdistanced last year's enrollment of 1,000.

Genealogists are attending classes, and assemblies from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily through Friday of this week on topics ranging from "How to Find Your Immigrant Birthplace in France" to "Trails, Plankroads, and Turnpikes: Routes of movement into the Ohio-Mississippi Valley."

General Authorities to address delegates are Elders Marvin J. Ashton, of the Council of the Twelve; Sterling W. Sill and Marion D. Hanks, both assistants to the Council of the Twelve.

allotments be considered in next year's budget so as to eliminate the need for chairman to appeal for contributions each summer.

A Drama Dept. spokesman said that $1,000 was an "equitable" sum and Dr. Harold Goodman of the Music Dept. said he could "get along" with $3,000. Nevertheless, both department representatives said they hoped that there is money left over at the end of the summer.

ABC newsmen to field questions

Correspondent speaks politics

Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton is on his way out and a new political party trend is on its way in, predicted Robert E. Clark yesterday in an interview with the Universe (to be printed verbatim in the Thursday issue).

Clark, Capitol Hill correspondent for ABC News and one of the nation's most experienced political reporters, said 1976 will be "one of the most fascinating presidential years in American history." Because of the rumbles and tremors in the Democratic convention this year, Clark said he can see political parties going in four or five directions in 1976—"moving away from the long tradition of the two party system."

Clark fielded questions from students and faculty all day yesterday on questions ranging from ABC coverage of the chess game in Iceland, to the media "mob" at the Democratic convention.

He will be answering queries today at a "brown bag" luncheon at 12:20 p.m. in room 384 of the Wilkinson Center, an event open to the public as well as students.

Clark comes to Provo for three days after helping in the convention floor coverage of the Democratic convention and with opinions on political issues, elections and local developments that affect the individual and composite personalities of the national government's legislative branch.

Clark joined ABC News in February 1961 after three years with the Washington Star and seven years as White House correspondent for the International News Service (INS).

Miss Indian AmericaAlmost two in a row

Miss Indian BYU, Vickie Bird, has been chosen first runnerup to Miss Indian America almost making it two in a row.

Her classmate, Nora Begay, was Miss Indian America during the past year and reigned at the four-day nationwide Indian celebration held in Sheridan, Wyoming, last weekend.

There were 35 contestants who underwent five interviews as well as talent and beauty competitions. Other BYU students galloped away with first place awards in the Lamanite Generation, a 41-member all Indian talent singing and dancing group performed three shows in Sheridan while on their summer tour of Idaho, Oregon, Washington, and Canada.

Miss Bird, a 20 year old Mandan-G Vents Indian from New York, North Dakota, who is also a member of the traveling Lamanite Generation group, explained that talent and beauty are not as important in this contest as are the ability to speak in native and American languages, to understand Indian traditions and history, and knowledge of modern Indian affairs.

For her talent number, Miss Bird performed a modern dance to the song "The Mountains Cry Out."

Other Indian students from BYU who figured prominently in the All-American Indian Days were Rhae Washburn, a Comanche from Oklahoma, who won $100 first place in the fancy dance, and Tiny Long, a Navajo dancer from Oklahoma, who placed third in the fancy dance for a $50 prize.

BYU students were the only Indians in the entire celebration to perform the spectacular hoop dance. Hoop dancers were Mr. Washburn, Jasper Yazzie (Navajo), and Sam Nez (Navajo), who performed on two nights.

Jeanne Marcellus, a employee in the Indian Education Department at BYU, personally represented BYU President Dallin H. Oaks at the event and presented outgoing Miss Indian America Nora Begay with a $900 scholarship. Nora also received a trip to Hawaii from Western Air Lines, a new dress, and a $300 scholarship from the North American Indian Foundation.

At an interdenominational church service Sunday, the BYU Lamanite Generation sang "I Am a Child of God" and Martha Chavez of BYU sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Defender airs feelings, job responsibility

"I'm in this for the experience," said a student, "I love it!" Chris Lansing, 22, a pre-law student majoring in accounting, to serve as the summer Student Defender.

A SBYU President Steve Kilpin recently appointed Lansing, 22, a pre-law student majoring in accounting, to serve as the summer Student Defender.

Lansing reported that the duties of the student defender are (1) to consult with assist students in securing their legal and constitutional rights, (2) to represent student interests in all cases before the BYU Supreme Court, and (3) to defend students in traffic appeals. He now has six cases pending court action.

"Most of my cases are traffic appeals," explains Lansing. "I think it's refreshing when a student appeals a case. There are too many complaisant students on this campus."

The dream of every entertainer is to perform before royalty, and that dream came true for BYU's American Folk Dancers this week as they danced for Monaco's Princess Grace and two of her children, Princess Carolyn and Crown Prince Albert.

For two hours the troupe of 32 students danced and sang with the group on stage as they performed the history of America through the Mediterranean Sea. Members of the royal Monacan family clapped and sang with the group on stage as they performed the history of America through dance, including "Oh, Suzanna" and "Virginia Reel."
